

SCUFF 2018

Before The Projector started operating, the Society for Cult and Underground Movies (SCUM) have been giving local cinephiles their fix of indie films. Comprising two movie nuts, Anthony Chiam and Herman Ho, SCUM started with bi-monthly screenings in 2013 but the programming soon evolved into a mini festival christened Singapore Cult and Underground Film Festival (SCUFF) in 2016.

The event returns for its third edition in February and will open with Have A Nice Day, which won Best Animation Feature award at the 54th Taipei Golden Horse Film Festival recently. The Mandarin adult-themed cartoon revolves around a bag of cash which changes the life of the people who get their hands on it.

Also screening are Super Dark Times, a coming-of-age drama and thriller mash-up; and Killing Ground, a graphic slasher flick with a difference. This year's old school pick is the cult 1972 Japanese gangster flick Wandering Ginza Butterfly, starring Meiko Kaji who has appeared in about 100 films and is best known for her femme fatale roles.

SCUFF 2018 takes place from Feb 23-25 at SCAPE's The Gallery. Check <http://scumcinema.com/> and @scumcinema on Facebook for ticketing details.
